Business Process Outsourcing Solutions
Full Health Plan Administration and Services

The Outsourcing Advantage
As health insurers and administrators struggle to deliver comprehensive product lines—often using disparate technologies to accomplish administration—many are finding that an outsourcing strategy can help them accelerate growth while reducing operational complexity and expenses. Developing and maintaining a trusted relationship with an outsourcer allows health plan business leaders to delegate execution of critical, non-core processes that divert attention from business development and other strategic initiatives.

Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) provides a ready source of operational talent and technology expertise a healthcare organization can tap into to gain a competitive edge. Outsourcing gives health plans the agility to bring new offerings to market quickly and provides unprecedented operational transparency, while helping them stabilize or reduce information technology (IT) and capital investment costs. Outsourcing helps organizations avoid HR recruitment, training and retention hassles associated with IT and administrative staff.

Experienced People Using the Best Technology
With more than 30 years of experience serving the health payer industry, DST Health Solutions (DSTHS) has the people, processes and technology needed to help you achieve business success. We built our reputation developing and delivering the industry’s most scalable and flexible health plan administration and claims processing applications. Today, our BPO operations process more than 57 million annual transactions, serving 4.5 million lives. Our unique business model offers deployment onshore, offshore, or a blended delivery option to meet your needs.

Benefits of Outsourcing
- Improve service to customers, members and providers
- Grow business without adding infrastructure
- Achieve speed to market with new product offerings and program expansions – without large capital investment
- Realize lower/more predictable administrative costs
- Leverage business/technical expertise and best practices
- Ensure compliance with regulatory requirement changes
- Access the newest and best technologies while reducing work backlog

Quality Approach
DSTHS’ approach to quality is focused on process improvement. We apply our own proven methods and engage in Six Sigma and other quality programs. Our deep experience in implementing diverse insurance solutions on various platforms has given us expertise in mainframe, midrange, client/server, e-business and service-oriented architecture implementations. Our proven project management methods have enabled us to complete projects without cost overruns, missed deadlines or unexpected delays.

Results
Plug into DST Health Solutions’ BPO operations, advanced applications and secure technology infrastructure and you can direct precious health plan capital toward higher return initiatives. With DSTHS supporting your administrative workload, you’ll have more time to direct organizational strategy and focus on core competencies, including business expansion, network development, care management and member services.
